

RE: RHS Safety Update

Good morning, Wolverines.

Today at Rosemont the school is open and classes are continuing as normal. I know that there has been a lot of different misinformation circulating, including mentions of a lockdown, which has not happened. There has also been misinformation in regards to a shooting threat but, as we sent out Wednesday, our safety team immediately followed up on the information to its source and found no credible threat. Students had overheard discussion about what happened in one of our neighborhoods last Friday and, without context, had been interpreted as something else.

We are still being proactive about campus safety. The district's Safe Schools department has provided us with additional personal and the Sheriff's Department has provided patrols and a presence at the entry points to campus. We are still remaining vigilant while at the same time maintaining a sense of routine on campus for our students.

All classes running. Staff and students are going about their day. We are here for our students.

Best,

Mitch Jones
